FOREWORD

This volume provides a complete list of all taxable property in Hoboken and the amounts levied against each parcel. In these days of high taxes, however, tax payers are interested not alone in the amount of taxes they have to pay. They want to know also whether taxes are high elsewhere, why taxes are high, and whether there is a prospect of lower taxes in the future.

As an aid to those individuals who are interested in finding the answers to these questions, a statistical appendix has been added to this volume. The following tables are presented.

SUMMARY

(1) Recapitulation of Assessments.

TAX RATES AND VALUATIONS

(2) Tax rates per $1,000 since 1916.

(3) Tax rate apportionment.

(4) Amounts to be raised in Hoboken and corresponding tax rates, 1924.

(5) Tax rates elsewhere in Hudson County.

(6) Assessed valuation of taxable property, City of Hoboken.

(7) Tax burden in terms of buying power.

BALANCE SHEET

(8) Balance Sheet, December 31, 1923.

MUNICIPAL BUDGET

(9) Official budget, City of Hoboken.

(10) How the taxpayer's money is raised and spent.

(11) Appropriations, apportionments and revenue.

(12) Comparable appropriations of New Jersey cities.

CITY INDEBTEDNESS

(13) Debt statements, 1918-1923.

(14) Borrowing capacity of Hoboken, 1916-1924.

A careful study of these tables and the past trends which they reveal will give tax payers at least a basis of fact on which to make a tentative forecast of the future.

TO-DAY

Is the best time to invest in our Guaranteed First Mortgages and Certificates because your interest at 5½% begins as soon as we receive your remittance.

Many investors imagine that it is not worth the trouble to invest small amounts like $100.

But with our First Mortgage Participation Certificates—in any amounts from $100.00 up—the small investment yields the same return (5½%) as the larger one.

ASSETS OVER $10,000,000.00

APPENDIX

The tables herein contained have been compiled by the Hoboken Chamber of Commerce from various sources; the annual abstract of ratables of Hudson County, official copies of the annual budgets of Hoboken, and newspaper reports. In some instances there are palpable discrepancies between official reports from different sources bearing on the same subjects. Wherever possible, without recourse to an actual audit, these inaccuracies or discrepancies have been adjusted in the tables.

TABLE 1

A summary of the valuations assessed against various types of property is contained in the table as well as a statement of property exempt from taxation. A comparison is made with 1923 by noting the increases or decreases over the valuations of the last year.

TABLES 2-7

These tables are largely self-explanatory. They trace the record of the tax rates in Hoboken and elsewhere in Hudson County and indicate the purposes for which the taxes are derived. Table 7 translates the tax burden into terms of buying power of the dollar. The actual increase in the growth of the property tax is revealed as distinguished from the apparent increase due to the higher price level of the war and post-war period.

TABLE 8

The current assets and liabilities of the city government are revealed in a balance sheet as of the last date of audit, December 31, 1923. A departure has been made from the normal accounting phraseology in the statement which is cast in a popular and non-technical form.

TABLES 9-11

The official budget of the city is presented showing item by item the objects for which money is currently appropriated. A second statement interprets the budget by explaining the sources of city income and the purposes of expenditure.

Lines 1 to 10 inclusive in table 11 are based on the city budgets for the years indicated. For the sake of brevity and of ease in comparison with the detailed budget appropriations published in Table 9, expenditures are grouped under the heads of the city's five administrative departments. Reference to the preceding table will indicate the municipal activities included under each general head for the eight fiscal years reported.

Lines 11 to 13 inclusive are based on the budgets of the school board, as certified to the municipal government. In this connection, it is necessary to point out that the school fiscal year does not correspond with the municipal fiscal year as indicated at the top of each column. The official fiscal school year is from July 1 to June 30. In 1919, however, the amounts appropriated for the schools covered only the period from July 1 to December 31, 1919. Since that time, the city has regarded the official school fiscal year as coinciding with the municipal fiscal year.

Line 14 is a mandatory item which makes its appearance only in the tax ordinance by means of which the total amount to be raised by taxation, after deducting all revenues from other sources, is certified to the county tax board.

(Explanation—Line 6 is the sum of lines 1 to 5.

Line 9 is the sum of lines 7 and 8.

Line 10 is the difference between lines 6 and 9.

Line 14 is the subtraction of lines 12 and 13 from 11.

Line 16 is the sum of lines 10, 14 and 15, and is certified to the county board of taxes.)

Lines 17 to 24 inclusive are derived from the county abstract of ratables, and represent (17) the city's half of taxes levied on bank stock in lieu of a tax on the personal property of banks, which is deducted from the sums in line 16 in order to arrive at the amounts (18) to be levied on general property for local purposes; lines 20 to 24, represent the apportioned shares of the various state and county taxes which are to be levied on general property within the City of Hoboken.

TABLE 12

A comparison between local expenditure and that in other cities is drawn by this table which summarizes the current appropriations in nine New Jersey Cities.

TABLES 13-14

These tables present in detail the debt condition of Hoboken under the administration of the Pierson Bond Act. Table 12 shows the controlling factors in determining the debts of the city in relation to statutory limits. By itemizing the gross indebtedness and the deductions which legally are made therefrom the process of establishing the net debt is outlined. The borrowing capacity of Hoboken, or the lack of it, is traced from 1916 to the present year. The margin between debt outstanding and the amount for which the city may incur debt is presented both in net amount and in the percent by which the city is below or in excess of the limit.
